Psi Chi

Psi Chi is the National Psychology Honorary emphasizing community service and broadening its members' knowledge about opportunities after Denison.

Psi Chi took volunteers to the Main Place, a consumer-run mental health facility in Newark, OH, and volunteered with the clients. It also participated in organizing the Denison Big Red Bags with Motar Board and put together a team for Relay for Life.

Psi Chi held a movie night showing Fisher King, a comedy starring Robin Williams, which successfully attracted students who were interested in learning about abnormal psychology. Additionally, Psi Chi sponsored graduate school talks and held a welcome back picnic and end of the year cook-out. They also participated in the inter-departmental Science Olympics.

This year Denison University Biological Society planted and sold more than 100 plants for its annual plant sale during Earth Week. It also held two student-faculty luncheons and several trips. Denison University Biological Society finally beat the Chemical Society at softball after a 12-year losing streak

THE Denison Chemical Society

Megan Warner and Jenna Walters - Co-Presidents
Hillary Stevenson - Vice President
Erin Gorsich - Secretary
David Hickey - Treasurer

During the 2006-2007 school year, the Denison Chemical Society has been actively trying to get more students and faculty involved, interested and excited about chemistry and biochemistry. Meetings generally started with a demo; the most popular were the "green monster," a foaming green reaction, and changing pennies into gold! DCS kicked off National Chemistry Week with a trip to the ACS for Chemistry Kid's Day. Students had fun experimenting and helping others with experiments like making slime. DCS also hosted a Liquid Nitrogen Ice Cream social where first year students and current majors had the opportunity to talk about their experiences. During the second semester, DCS hosted a graduate school question and answer night. It also hosted Children's Day, helping local Girl Scout troops earn their science badge by learning how to write secret messages using special solutions and how to make a balloon blow up through chemical reactions. The first ever Pumpkin Blowout was held; students and faculty performed a skit by making pumpkin pie "the chemistry way." The skit ended by exploding pumpkins via chemical reactions! DCS planned the first annual Science Olympics, allowing all the science departments on campus to interact in a fun and competitive manner.

Active members are chemistry and biochemistry majors
and minors, as well
as other students who share an interest in science.

else who boosts at the roost!

Purpose: BOOST THE ROOST! Encouraging students to take advantage of the on-campus pub and entertainment space.
TGIF events were a constant hit on campus!

DIRE

Denison International Relief Effort

DIRE is a DCA committee that raises awareness and support for a country affected by a disaster, whether man-made or natural. It helped the crisis in Darfur with its Sudanese dinner, Many Moons, boo-grams, posters, mass-mailings, Mardi Gras Grams and the showing of "The Constant Gardener" and "The Girl in the Cafe." It was also involved with John Prenderast's visit to campus.

Renee Goff - President

Reid Nahmias - Vice President

Active Members: Kristen Bowman, Nettie Belson, Alyssa Christian, Leigh Courtney, Melissa Cpyerski, Nora Deeg, Greta Donley, Betsy Fisher, Shachie Garcia, Elizabeth Hubbard, Sheralyn Jia, Stephanie LaCount, Christine Martin, Lisa Mervosh, Jason Murphy, Aleks Panovska, Jon Ross, Alyssa Rossodivita, Lynette Schwenger, Xerxes Unvala, Rachel Voelicle, Katherin Von Gersdorff and Teresa Young

The biggest event of the year is the DIRE dinner, which was co-sponsored this year by DISA. The dinner had Sudanese food and music, an African dance performance, and Denison faculty members Dr. James Pletcher and Dr. Ruramisa Charumbia speaking about the historical, political and international elements involved with the crisis in Darfur. The event brought in more than 100 people and more than $700 in ticket sales and donations. At the end of the year, more than $3,000 dollars was donated to the Red Cross working in Darfur.

Squash DU Team

The Denison Squash Team traveled the country this year to play many of the top teams. This year the team played Yale, the Naval Academy, Bates, Hamilton, Colby, Rochester, St. Laurence, and the national champions of Trinity. A successful year, the Squash Team at one point it was ranked as high as number 15 in the nation. The team finished the year as runner-up in the Summers Cup and number 19 in the country. Each year, the team holds the Denison Open in the Mitchell Center, which is open to all students as well as people from the surrounding area.

Denison Humane Society

Co-chairs: Lauren DeLany and Hannah Brautigam

The Denison Humane Society is part of DCA. This group volunteers at the Homeward Bound Humane Society in Heath. It goes to the Society and spends times with the animals, primarily the cats and dogs. This year, the club painted the inside of the shelter and helped plan "Mutt March." For this event, members of the Society walked dogs for people of Granville to raise money for the shelter.

Campus Crusade for Christ

"Real people pursuing Real Life with a Real God"

This year Campus Crusade for Christ worked towards seeking the truth about God and life.

Mortar Board, Inc. is a national honor society that recognizes college seniors for their achievements in scholarship, leadership and service. It provides opportunities for continued leadership development, promotes service to colleges and universities, and encourages lifelong contributions to the global community.

Mortar Board participated in faculty dinners and discussions with various professors, had a Halloween Party with the Y.E.S. Clubhouse, and organized the Founder's Day Dessert.

and Ben Kraus

Club Hockey is a competitive team and continues to compete at the highest level available. The team went undefeated against Division One schools such as Louisville, Butler, and Xavier. Games were held every Friday at the rink in Newark.

The Denisonian

For 12 hours each Sunday, The Denisonian editors hunt down their writers, edit their stories, and scramble to go to press on Monday, all while homework lingers for the ensuing week.

And before the editors know it, it is next Sunday already. The mayhem begins all over again.

Ten weeks per semester, the familiar stack of freshly published editions of The Denisonian appear all over campus.

As students page through a copy in Slayter, or sit down with one at dinner, it is no question that the readership has grown not only with students, but parents and locals, too.

The only campus newspaper, The Denisonian has seen a substantial makeover in the last few years. From more diverse content to new layout styles, this year's staff, under Editor-in-Chief Jordan Giangola, has substantially and successfully adapted to both its ever-evolving audience and loyal readership alike.

With the help of Alan Miller, the paper's faculty advisor, The Denisonian is expected to only improve more. Miller, the managing editor of news at The Columbus Dispatch, teaches journalism in the Communication Department and is in his second year as the advisor.

The paper has developed a style that covers everything from the new water park at Cherry Valley Lodge, to the local reaction to the Virginia Tech tragedy.

"Being a part of the Denisonian staff was a lot more time consuming and a lot more difficult than I think students imagine. But it is also very rewarding to produce a newspaper that the entire campus can both be proud of and enjoy reading. The Denisonian has made some huge strides in the past two years or so, with the complete overhaul of the paper's appearance, as well as trying to tackle real issues on campus that have an impact on student life. With a new section and new leadership during the 2006-2007 school year, I honestly believe that a solid foundation has been laid at The Denisonian, and I know that it will only continue to get better in the issues to come."

Katie Apfelbach - President

Katie Dean - Vice-President

Sarah Mitchiner - Vice-President of Finance

Gretchen White - Vice-President of Public Relations

The Cystic Fibrosis Awareness Society hosted fundraisers throughout the year like a rose sale on Valentine's Day and Denison Idol Talent Show. The money raised went to the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation to fight the childhood disease.

Active Members: Sam Wilson, Edward Cragwall, Meghan Hofert, Melissa Kennedy, Britni Warner, Kristin Gold, Larianna Dunn, Kate Rochow, Kilby Pasqualone, Stephanie Whonsetler, Jenny Gresla, Stephanie Sferra, Leah Simmet

The Society hosted a Denison talent show in the Roost and raised more than $2,000 to give to the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

Denison University Recycling Program

Katie Merva and Caitlin Splawski - Co-Presidents

Jackson Means - Vice-President

Gina Weinberger - Secretary

Jenny Kremyar - Treasurer

DURP is continually working to improve recycling on campus. It increased recycling at university events, celebrated National Recycling Day, completed trail cleaning work of the Denison's Preserve, and worked to create and distribute one-sided notebooks for the campus. DURP helped sponsor Earth Day Celebrations including Project Greenway.

Animal Liberation League

Jeff Green - President and Founder

Reese Neader - Treasurer

Prachi Vakharia - Recruitment Organizer

Nathalie Van Balen - Public Relations Chair

Steve Vogel - Advisor

Campus Accomplishments: This organization was founded in fall 2006 and has worked on several campaigns in the interest of animals during its first year. These include:

Cage-free Egg Campaign: The Animal Liberation League spent the year encouraging Dining Services to end its purchase of eggs from hens confined in cages so small they cannot stretch their wings. In doing so, it gathered more than 500 petition signatures from the student body supporting the effort, demanding that Denison switch its eggs to those that are Certified Humane cage-free. The League also received more than 100 personalized egg messages from students that were displayed on banners.

Victoria's Dirty Secret/Catalog Campaign: The League launched a continuous campaign on the catalog industry in conjunction with ForestEthics, a national environmental non-profit. The magazine industry sends out more than 19 billion catalogs each year, 95 percent of which end up in the trash or are recycled. The League is encouraging retailers to use more recycled content in their catalogs because most of the paper comes from endangered forests. Logging there contributes to the destruction of these forests, threatening animals whose habitat depends on them, and threatens one of our last natural lines of defense against global warming. The group collected more than 200 post cards from students to send to Victoria's Secret, a retailer that decided to start using recycled paper and stay out of endangered forests last December. The campaign continues to encourage other top retailers to follow in Victoria's Secret's footsteps.

Vegan Dining: By working with Dining Services, the League encouraged managers to expand and diversify their selection of vegan entrees and options in the dining halls and in Slayter. This year they have already started to offer vegan desserts in both Huffman and Curtis and start the flash in the pan option that allows students to cook stir fries with items in the buffet line.

Active Members: Allison Brogan, Elise Neveau, Madeleine Mindling, Katie Earls, Suzie Humphreys, Nellie Schrantz, Amber Yoder, Rachel Voelke, Ben Taylor, Caiti Schroering, Stephanie Chan

Events for 06-07 school year:

Held first ever Green Festival, bringing together social justice and environmental groups and educating the students about environmental issues and how they relate with one another.

Brought in Nathan Runkle, executive director of Mercy for Animals, to discuss the issue of factory farming and making humane food choices.

Held a day of action at the Polaris Fashion Place in Columbus where activists from Ohio State University and Denison encouraged the top five catalog retailers behind J. Crew to use more recycled paper in their catalogs.

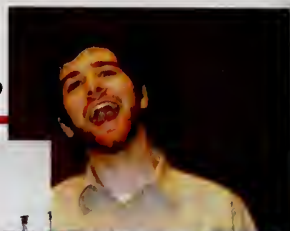

Brought in Paul Shapiro, director of the factory farming campaign for the Humane Society for the United States, to encourage the university to adopt a cage-free egg policy.

Started a Vegetarian Cooking Co-Op for students to participate in and cook eco-friendly and vegan meals with our group.

Member Organizations: ACLU, Animal Liberation League, Amnesty International, BSU, Denison Democrats, DIRE, DISA, DUFTA, DURP, Green Team, Outlook, Students for Choice, Student Global AIDS Campaign, Womens Emphasis Campus Accomplishments: DPA was founded in 2007 as a coalition of progressive organizations that work on promoting social justice and environmental responsibility.

Energy Redux Campaign; With the help of ALL, Green Team and DURP, the DPA worked to promote the message of energy reduction to the student body.

Web site: In March 2007, the DPA Web site was launched, providing links to all member organizations, a calendar of DPA events and general information about our organization.

Lunch Discussions: In February 2007, the DPA hosted the first lunch discussion, an event aimed at bringing faculty and students together outside the classroom to talk about issues related to social justice and environmental responsibility. Discussions have been with Steve Vogel, Anita Waters and Bahram Tavakolian.

Sustained Dialogue

Sustained Dialogue is an organization dedicated to fostering discussions and relationships that focus on issues of race and diversity among students. Sustained Dialogue shall serve as a catalyst for bringing together different types of people and opening lines of communication between racial groups. It is a talk with a purpose that focuses on strained community relationships and builds capacity between group members to formulate action to improve them. Each group consists of ten to twelve people and is led by two moderators.

The Colwell House. Originally the house belonged to the dean of the school, Richard S. Colwell. The fraternity Phi Delta Theta bought the house in 1915, staying there until it sold the house to the school in 1925. It then became a dining hall for women, a space for offices and the original location of The Bandersnatch.

Alpha Chi Omega

Academics

Alpha Chi Omega believes in the importance of intellectual development, sound scholarship and dedication to high standards of intellectual achievement.

Character

Alpha Chi Omega expects each member to accept and reflect moral integrity and dignity, fraternity loyalty and interest.

Leadership Ability

Alpha Chi Omega believes that character, personality, and leadership are developed through participation in campus activities and urges each collegian to be interested in her community.

Personal Development

Alpha Chi Omega believes in the development of social awareness, poise, personal presentation and cultural appreciation.

Delta Delta Delta

Tridelta's purpose is "to establish a perpetual bond of friendship between its members, to develop a stronger and more womanly character, to broaden the moral and intellectual life, and to assist its members in every possible way."

TRI or DIE!

In 2006, Delta Delta Delta won 1st place in Delta Gamma's ANCHOR SPLASH!

Delta Delta Delta has raised more than $10 million as a national sorority to help children's cancer hospitals, including St. Jude's Children's Research Hospital.

Delta Gamma

Delta Gamma Mission:

Delta Gamma offers to women of all ages a rich heritage based on principles of personal integrity, personal responsibility and intellectual honesty. Its primary purpose is to foster high ideals of friendship, promote educational and cultural interests, create a true sense of social responsibility, and develop the finest qualities of character.

Anchor Splash raised more than $15,000 this year for Service for Sight. This event included a week of games, activities, and a final performance of sororities and fraternities competing in a synchronized swimming routine. The winners this year were Lambda Chi, Delta Chi, and Delta Delta Delta, who all recieved a party as the first place prize.

Kappa Alpha Theta

Kappa Alpha Theta devotes its time to philanthropic and social events both within and outside the Denison community. It strives to promote personal growth and achievement with its members through friendship and support. Theta's national philanthropy is Court Appointed Special Advocates (CASA). Every year it raises money for CASA through its annual Kats with Bats softball tournament. CASA is a national organization that assists foster children moving through the legal system by providing them with an advocate to represent their best interests. Theta also participates in other Greek organizations' events, non-Greek organizations' events and campus events like Relay for Life.

Last year Kats with Bats raised more than $2,000. It also held Cupcakes for CASA, selling cupcakes all over campus, raising $300.

Kappa Kappa Gamma

Kappa Kappa Gamma is an organization of women that seeks for every member throughout her life bonds of friendship, mutual support, opportunities for self-growth, respect for intellectual development and an understanding of and an allegiance to positive ethical principles.

Pi Beta Phi

The mission of Pi Beta Phi is to promote friendship, develop women of intellect and integrity, cultivate leadership potential, and enrich the lives of our members and our community.

Pi Beta Phi's national service project is known as Links to Literacy through which it provides the surrounding community with literacy-related materials and services such as tutoring and book distribution. This year, members participated in a tutoring program at North Elementary School in Neward called CAR, Champions Are Readers. In the Spring, the chapter holds a "Pi Phi Pie Phight," which involves a number of fun activities and competitions with pies to raise money for Links to Literacy.

Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc. is a private, non-profit organization with the purpose of providing assistance and support through established programs in local communities throughout the world. A sisterhood of more than 200,000 predominately Black educated women, the sorority currently has over 900 chapters located in the United States, England, Japan, Germany, the Virgin Islands, Bermuda, the Bahamas and the Republic of Korea. The major programs of the sorority are based upon the organization's Five

Point Thrust on:

- economic development
- educational development
- international awareness and involvement
- physical and mental health
- political awareness and involvement

The sorority was founded in 1913 by 22 students at Howard University. These young women wanted to use their collective strength to promote academic excellence, provide scholarships, support to the underserved, educate and stimulate participation in the establishment of positive public policy and highlight issues and provide solutions for problems in communities.

Our chapter Pi Kappa is the first historically Black greek letter organization on Denison's campus, chartered November 20, 1985.

A parade for the 1962 production of L'il Abner. The play was part of Denison's former Summer Theatre Program, which was initially the creation of Richard Woellhaf, a professor in the speech department. The program evolved when Edward A. Wright extended the program in 1943, charging 60 cents for single admission or $1.50 for a season ticket. The program again grew with an established summer theatre in 1947. The plays were performed underneath a tent. Due to financial reasons, the Summer Theatre Program closed after the 1963 season. By its end, 250 people had participated in the acting company, 156 plays were produced, which over 290,000 audience members enjoyed.

Presidential Medalists

The President's Medals were established in 1985 as Denison's highest and most prestigious honor. Medals recognize students who have demonstrated intellectual achievement and who have made some other significant contribution to the community in such areas as global awareness, athletic fitness, leadership and campus discourse.

Remarks from the Awards Presentation:

"Sam, the depth and range of your achievements during your time at Denison have earned the admiration of your peers and rave reviews from your faculty mentors. Excelling in the rigorous PPE major, you bring to your academic work the persistence, discipline, and mental acuity to master complex, difficult material and to convey your understanding in 'carefully constructed, persuasively argued, and always interesting' papers. Your presence in class, to quote one of your teachers, 'ensures that class discussion will rise to the highest level.' As a Young Scholar in 2005 you undertook summer research on how Ronald Dworkin's philosophy of law theory could be employed in a critical examination of the Patriot Act. The result, in the words of your advisor, was 'a truly marvelous analysis – suitable for a Master's Thesis in any good philosophy of law program.' This coupled with superior class performance earned you the philosophy department's Harold Titus Award in Social and Political Philosophy.

Your capacity for logical argument – whether demonstrated in a Bullsheit contribution arguing for why Denison should provide pie to all students on Fridays using seventeen of the informal fallacies studied in your logic class or in constructing a carefully reasoned legal brief for Moot Court competition as the co-captain of the team – is most impressive. Conducting your senior research 'with a diligence and autonomy rare for an undergraduate' you have produced an honors project of impressive merit entitled, 'Git off My Lawn: Eminent Domain and Moral Harm.' Such achievements could lead to intellectual arrogance, but you exude an 'intellectual humility' that would warm the heart of Thomas Aquinas.

Your intellectual passions connect seamlessly with your co-curricular commitments. You have assumed natural leadership roles on the editorial board of the undergraduate philosophy journal, Episteme, on the committee coordinating the Philosophy coffees, as treasurer of the Denison Objectivist Club, and as treasurer and vice-president of the Denison Community Association. Your three year leadership of the Denison Service Orientation and the Legal Assistance committee of DCA exemplifies your remarkable commitment to social justice and public service. Well deserved recognition followed: a Distinguished Leadership Award, ODK, Mortar Board and Phi Beta Kappa."

Samuel Knott Benham

Remarks from the Awards Presentation:

"Elaine, you epitomize the true student-athlete. Your selection to Phi Beta Kappa in your junior year and the perfect 4.0 GPA that you carry into the last weeks of your Denison career exemplify your academic excellence. For well over a year you have been a vital member of your advisor's research team exploring the role of the SM50 gene regulating skeleton formation in a species of sea urchins. Your research work has produced several co-authored papers and a conference poster at the National Developmental Biology Meeting as well as your just completed honors project. Coupled with outstanding class performance these achievements earned the following accolade by one of your professors, 'Elaine Binkley is the brightest undergraduate student that I've encountered at Denison or any other institution including Duke University.'

Athletically you have enjoyed great success as a distance runner in both cross country and track and field. In the former you earned All North Coast Athletic Conference honors four years running, All Great Lakes Region recognition for same period, and twice achieved All-American status. In track and field you have won four conference championships, been named All-NCAC six times, while garnering the outstanding distance runner award for the 2004 outdoor championship. ESPN The Magazine recognized your combination of scholarly and athletic excellence by twice naming you an Academic-All American. And as just celebrated, you are a winner of a NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship. Despite all this recognition you remain humble, dedicated to your teammates and their improvement, and a quiet leader in a very successful running program. Given your passion for running it is no surprise that you are an active participant in the Central Ohio running community including organizing road races and writing a column for the monthly running newspaper, Run Ohio.

As Denison's representative in the highly competitive competition for the Rhodes Fellowship, you were the first in many years to become a finalist for that elusive prize.

While virtually all Denisonians are aware of your dedication, hard work and excellence, many fewer know that you have a great sense of humor and gift for mimicry. You have even been known to do killer imitations of some of your professors! (We don't hold it against you.)

Elaine, it should be no surprise after all you've accomplished that you have made Denison supremely proud to be your alma mater although given your unfailing modesty you will probably have discounted our praise today. We wish you well as you take the next step on your educational journey in medical school at the Ohio State University."

Elaine Michele Binkley

Remarks from the Awards Presentation:

"Erin, in the past four years your pursuit of knowledge and 'passion for psychological research have been unsurpassed.' One faculty member describes you as 'being in the top one percent of more than 400 students he has worked closely with in terms of your ... motivation, skills, knowledge, curiosity and commitment.' Even as a first semester student you 'seemed to grasp difficult concepts with ease and offered provocative questions that helped everyone in class go beyond the surface details of a topic.'

You were one of two students to be named an Anderson Endowment Scholar as a sophomore and that summer conducted challenging experimental research with professionalism. Your growing enthusiasm for studying animal language and cognition led you to a wonderful internship with the U.S. Navy's Marine Animal Program after your junior year and you became Denison's expert on the social interaction of captive bottlenose dolphins. Since Denison's dolphin population is on the slim side, you have pursued your honors project with rats. They are admittedly not as endearing as dolphins, but your project is exceptionally creative and will undoubtedly lead to publication. Not surprisingly you have been honored as a Senior Fellow in Psychology, with a Distinguished Leadership Award, and selection to Phi Beta Kappa.

As President of Psi Chi, the psychology honor society, you reinvigorated the organization implementing service projects, movie nights, and active participation in departmental colloquia. Denison celebrates your role as a three year staff member for the pre-orientation, Paving the Way, including functioning as the co-coordinator for the past two years. According to one of your recommenders, you not only 'diligently planned, organized, and shaped this pre-orientation experience' but you have continued to be a model, a mentor, and an advocate for multi-cultural students at Denison.'

Erin, you have been an inspiration to all students who aspire to excellence in the classroom, the laboratory and community. As you embark on what is sure to be a stellar career in psychology, beginning with pursuit of your Ph.D. at the University of Georgia, know how grateful we are that you have graced us with your presence for these four years.

Erin Natannie Colbert-White

Remarks from the Awards Presentation:

Kristin, you superbly manifest the synergy that can exist between the up and downhill at Denison. Your uphill life has centered on psychology where your teachers marvel at your ability to do everything well and with a positive energy and optimism that make [you] unique and truly delightful' to have in class. Commenting on your contributions as a TA in an upper level research class the instructor notes, 'Kristin's superb interpersonal skills and technical savvy saved the day on numerous occasions and were deeply valued by the students.' You have also established a most impressive research record for an undergraduate. According to your research advisor, 'Kristin has been the driving force behind two studies, one on vision and one on hearing [and] is deservedly the first author of the manuscript for each study, one of which has already been submitted for publication in a major journal.

Later this spring you will present your experiments on vision and hearing, encompassed in your just completed honors project, at the annual conferences of two national societies. One suspects that your fascination with auditory processes has something to do with the 'stunningly beautiful voice' which you have cultivated in your downhill life. You bring to your study of music the same impeccable work ethic that defines your approach to psychology, becoming, in the words of your voice teacher, 'the most lauded music major of the past ten years.' As the lead soprano in every Singer's Theater production since your arrival at Denison, you are constantly being rescued from pirates or wicked step-sisters while trilling thrilling tunes.

Your musical talent has also enriched the larger community. For the past two years you have served as a soloist and cantor as well as the assistant director of both the children and adult choirs at St. Edward's. Your commitment to service finds additional expression in your two years spent as a dedicated tutor for America Reads. Working with elementary students in Newark and Utica you have made a significant difference in those young lives.

As witnessed by your Distinguished Leadership Award, your election to Phi Beta Kappa, and membership in numerous honoraries your impact at Denison has been profound. As you leave to pursue a Ph.D. in psychology at the College of William and Mary, we know that you will be a resounding success and bring honor to your alma mater.

Kristin Michelle Cox

Remarks from the Awards Presentation:

Jake, in an age of specialists you have been called by your recommenders 'a Renaissance man - editor of the philosophy journal Episteme, president of Pi Sigma Delta, vice president of Omicron Delta Kappa, elected member of DCGA, contributor to several academic volumes, presenter at a handful of political science conferences, builder and player of guitars, a connoisseur of fine food and wine, and car mechanic.' This range is impressive, but it is your intellectual fire power the blows away your teachers. To quote, 'Jake has shown himself adept both with theoretical work in philosophy and politics as well as with study design, data collection and analysis. To excel in one of these areas is hard enough; to shine in both as Jake has done is truly exceptional.' To make the point more concretely, you have established a record of scholarly conference presentations and publications that would be the envy of many faculty members.

As a professor at another university has said of you, 'Jacob is not an aspiring political scientist. He is already a published, contributing political scientist.' You honed your passion for exploring the links between religion and politics through two summers of Young Scholar research and your just completed honors project, 'Christian Right Horticulture: Grassroots Activism in a Republican Primary Campaign.' But your engagement with politics also finds expression in your role as treasurer of the Denison Democrats and your entry on several occasions into the rough and tumble world of political campaigning.

Lest we conclude that you are all work and no play, you have been known to let off a little steam on the badminton court and can be seen carrying your guitar up and down hill. One letter writer remarks, 'He is committed to music as a bass player and a fine bluegrass and blues instrumentalist.' As a valued member of the Bluegrass Ensemble, your solid guitar work and contributions to the well-being of that rapidly expanding program reflect your 'steady personality and commitment to excellence without fanfare.'

Your excellence, of course, has been recognized by selection to Phi Beta Kappa, as a Fellow in both political science and philosophy, and by admission to many of the top graduate schools in political science to pursue your Ph.D. Rumor has it that the University of Wisconsin might win out in this competition. We understand your journey will one day result in a faculty position, but wherever your road leads, Denison will celebrate you as one of its finest.

Jacob Robert Neiheisel

Remarks from the Awards Presentation:

Evan, you could be accused of collecting majors for your trophy room as you have added economics to your original double major in mathematics and Spanish but that would be an unfair charge, for your majors enable you to apply the required multidisciplinary expertise to the investigation of complex issues. No where is this clearer than in your expertly crafted honors project, 'Critically Assessing Wintrobe's Theory of Dictatorship: A Political Economy Analysis of Chilean Autocracy.' Here you have powerfully blended mathematical modeling, economic analysis, and the use of Spanish language sources. In the words of your advisors your project 'goes far beyond what Denison expects of its independent senior researchers' and reflects your 'outstanding academic skills' and your 'insatiable intellectual curiosity.' Not surprisingly a segment of your research recently presented at the undergraduate economics paper contest at Bowling Green State University was honored with the silver medal.

Faculty are delighted to have you in class for you 'have the uncommon ability to draw (your) colleagues into class discussion through the connections you make and the questions you ask.' You raise the bar for both professor and students in ways that challenge us all to do our best. Your recent election to Phi Beta Kappa is deserved recognition for your many academic achievements.

Your contributions to Denison, however, go far beyond the classroom. You are a superb campus leader who exhibits, as stated in one of your letters, 'a natural ability to lead without any overt aspiration to control.' Your leadership roles have been many and varied and just honored with a Distinguished Leadership Award. For two years you initiated eager first years to the wonders of the West Virginia wilderness as a key staff member on the Denison Outdoor Orientation program, while last year sophomores benefited from your outstanding service as a staff member on the Quest program. And this year as a skilled senior interviewer you are playing a key role in selecting the class of 2011 for Denison. Taking on the challenge of leadership in the Greek system, you have worked tirelessly to hold your fraternity to the highest standards. You have, in the words of one staff member, 'been an agent of transformation through leadership by example and with integrity.'

Evan, you have left your mark on Denison; we are better for your presence and know you will continue to give back to your alma mater as you proceed to a Ph.D. program in economics at the highly regarded school to the north.

Evan Penniman Starr

Remarks from the Awards Presentation:

Laurel, you are well known for your 'innate and restless curiosity' about the world around you. In fact according to your advisor 'you arrived at Denison with a compulsion for doing scientific investigation.' You do not limit that investigation to the classroom or the lab but take every opportunity to learn, whether it be as a student leader for the Denison Outdoor Orientation where you asked 'insightful and sophisticated questions' of your faculty geologist co-leader or driving back from a field site with your advisor who, in response to your question, explained how cumulus clouds develop while you pulled out your field book and took notes. Your passion for learning means you excel in courses from all areas of the curriculum. Couple this quality with your genuine warmth and candid, caring nature and we understand why faculty praise your work as a lab assistant, research assistant, and a June Orientation and DOO staffer.

Your research conducted as a Anderson Summer Scholar, on a semester's study in Costa Rica with the highly selective Organization of Topical Studies, and now for your senior honor's project on the titillating topic of sexual signaling by damselflies reveals your mastery of both methods and theory as well as 'the remarkable maturity of [your] scientific thinking.' Your work has resulted in presentations at national meetings and your selection as a holder of the Anderson Scholarship in the Sciences and as a senior fellow in biology.

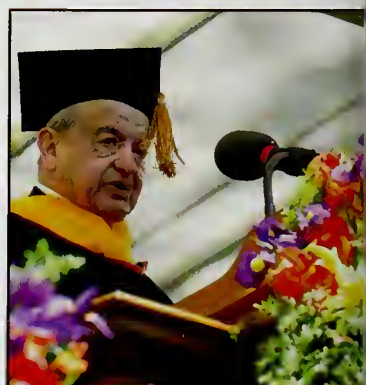

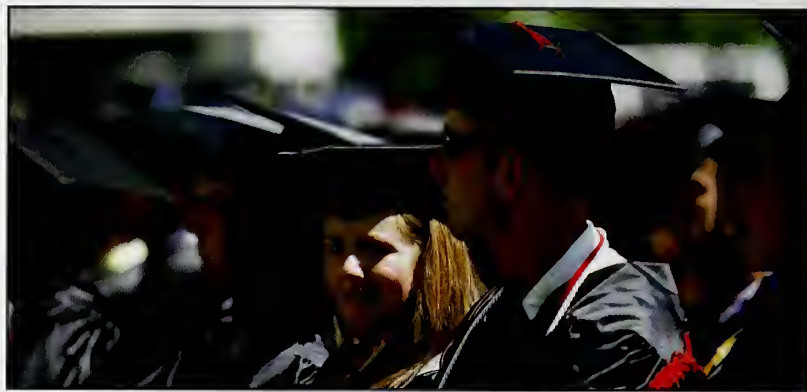

Fortunately for the college your energies and talents are not confined to the science arena. A dedicated member of the Peer Advisory Network since your first year, you provided robust leadership for the group as a junior. You have also served the community as a member and then co-chair of the Community Rights and Standards Board. On this body as well as the board of academic misconduct, you have been scrupulous about following good processes and insuring fairness. In the words of one of your recommenders, 'Laurel is the most impressive student I have ever worked with in this capacity.' Your recent selection for the Distinguished Leadership Award recognizes your superior leadership and service.

Laurel, as you leave Denison for graduate study at Dartmouth College we know that you will continue in your quest to understand the mysteries of our world and we applaud your commitment to the ideal of life-long learning. But we will miss being exposed to 'all manner of bugs and crawly things' which frequently accompanied your visits to various campus buildings.

beginnings

Sara,

Four years ago, you began a journey without being sure where it would take you. Now, looking back, you could never have imagined how wonderful those next four years were going to be! As you move from the community that you have loved, remember that you will always carry Denison in your heart. You can sail through the changing ocean tides and handle the seasons of your life with grace and confidence. Enjoy, you are about to embark on another wonderful journey!

Love Always, Mom, Dad and Ryan

Congratulations!

We Love You!

Eric Clough

Eric, you have amazed us since Junior High School with your determination to do well in school. While at Denison, you have worked hard, played hard, made good friends and traveled to new places. You have again exceeded all expectations.

Let all you have learned, your friendships and good memories support you as you move into the future to fulfill your dreams. Congratulations!

Love,

Mom, Dad, Brent and Alicia

When you were first born, we couldn't take our eyes off of you! Without doing anything, you were perfect in our eyes! You brought such joy and happiness to us as soon as we saw you! As you grew, we began to look forward to the next phase. We anxiously awaited your ability to walk and talk and say our names. Then you entered kindergarten and we couldn't wait to see your first report card and lose your first tooth! When you were in grade school, it was fun to see you develop your friendships and play in the school band. Before we knew it, you were leaving middle school and heading to your freshman year of high school. Again, we looked forward to your academic successes, proms and of course, Crew! :) Then it was college application time and without even taking a breath to realize how far and how quickly you had arrived at that doorstep, you were packing to head off to Denison University! Then, we waved goodbye and left you on your first move-in day! That memory will be forever etched in our minds. Now here we are today watching you receive your college diploma and make your own plans for your future. It seems there just are not any other words to put here other than ones used so often by every parent in the world, "WE ARE SO VERY PROUD OF YOU!" We will not be too far in the shadows watching you as you begin on your own journey and making your own way in this world. You will begin this time however, with all your teeth, all your vocabulary, and all the knowledge you will need to be the success we know you will be! Our love is with you always!

Love,

Dad and Mom

Catherine...

Oh, how we hated to see you go
Especially across the country to O-hi-O.

Of course we suspected before you'd begun
That you would thrive at Den-i-son.

Your friends, your art, your swimming at school
Have proven once again - You Rule!

XOXO

Continue . . . . .

Quinn,

"the Journey!"

We are proud of you!

Ashley Michelle Albrecht,

Wow those four years sure zipped right on by, didn't they? I think back to your reaction to receiving your acceptance letter... "Ohio? That's so random! None of my friends have even heard of Denison!" Yet within a few short months, I don't think you could imagine yourself anywhere else. You have always made friends so quickly and easily – you are bubbly, spirited, honest, and never phony or conceited. Many of your friends have seemed very similar to you, while others so different; you have a special talent for recognizing and appreciating the good in everyone.

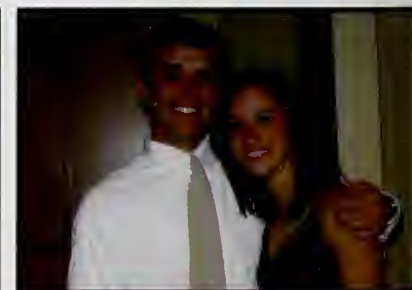

Always remember the Vince Lombardi quote on one of your high school cross country shirts: "Perfection is not attainable. But if you strive for perfection, you can achieve excellence." Looking at your consistent Dean's List standing, along with your significant contributions to the DU Track and Cross Country teams, you definitely have achieved excellence at Denison.

While you were too far away for us to visit you often, there certainly are things we will miss after you graduate. The totally stressed out phone calls when you were certain you had bombed a test or assignment, only to later discover you got an 'A' or 'B'; encouraging you to take a break from studying and relax a little (parents saying that? Oh yeah!); your away messages which often seemed to make no sense whatsoever; watching you run; freezing at NCAA Nationals in Wisconsin in November; sleeping in a PT Cruiser rental during a blizzard no one believed happened; shopping at Easton; reading papers you wrote and feeling stupid about having NO clue what you were writing about; and feeling sad when you had to leave us when your breaks were over, even though you seemed to think we were thrilled.

Not only have you achieved excellence throughout your 22 years of life, we know you will continue doing so in the future. Things may not always go the way you plan, but be patient and confident. You certainly have the drive, determination and strengths to make the very best of your life, now and always. You have far exceeded any reasonable expectations parents can have! Lots of love, Best wishes and thanks for being our first daughter!

Mom & Dad

Congratulations & love from Michael, Tommy and Alison too!

Dear Mimi,

"CONGRATULATIONS"

With all our love forever,
Your parents,
Doris & Lamar Jones

Meg,

You reached for the stars,
and you realized your dreams.
You accomplished every goal
that you set for yourself at Denison.
Your talent in swimming brought you to Denison.
Your talent in painting will take you throughout the world.

Congratulations on this wonderful achievement sweetie,
I am so very proud of you.
You are my hero, and I love you.

To Denison

V.E. Field, Class of 1903
Air: "Oh Bring the Wagon Home, John"

To Denison, we raise our song
Fair college on the hill
The name that sets our souls on fire
And makes our senses thrill.
To Denison my Denison
In praise our voices swell
The scenes of happy college days
The home we love so well.

Oh morning glow which gilds the east
Oh sun which shines at noon
Oh stars which bloom at eventide
Oh radiant glowing moon
Look from the pathless azure dome
Shed blessings from above
On college halls and college walls
The Denison we love.

And when the shadows softly fall
O'er hills and valleys dear
Across the college campus rings
The melody so clear
The circling hills throw back again
The glad inspiring song
And in our hearts to Denison
Our praises we prolong.

When from the fold we far shall stray
With souls forever young
We'll ne'er forget our college days
These happy scenes among
And when our steps have feeble grown
Our journey almost done
E'en then with fleeting breath we'll praise
Our dear old Denison.

A Special Thanks....

First, a big thank you to John Beckman and Natalie Pariano who were and are excellent advisors and helped guide this yearbook to what it is. A special thanks to James Hale and the entire Office of Public Affairs for the use of their photos, information and assistance. A great thank you to the Denison Archives Librarian, Heather Lyle, for all of her assistance with historical photos and timelines. Thanks to our Jostens Advisor Robin Fritts for his help with everything. Thanks to Bill Cost Jr. for a great job with senior photos and athletic team photos. A thanks to my sister, Eloise for all of her help this summer with senior photos. A special thanks to the book Denison University, 1831-1931 : a centennial history by Francis W. Shepardson and the information on the Denison website for the facts about Denison's history.

Thanks to everyone who contributed information and for all of our staff who helped put pages together and contributed their creative ideas!

This has been a fun process and the result was definitely worth it!
For all those who were so helpful this year, thank you!
